ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE MARKET
ENGIE concludes the implementation of the transmission lines of the Novo Estado and Gralha Azul projects

ENGIE BRASIL ENERGIA S.A., a publicly listed company with headquarters in Florianópolis, state of Santa Catarina at Rua Paschoal Apóstolo Pítsica, 5064, enrolled in the tax register (CNPJ) under number 02.474.103/0001-19 ("Company"), in compliance with the provision in CVM instructions 358/2002 and 480/2009, wishes to announce to the market at large that on February 27, Novo Estado Transmissora de Energia ("Novo Estado" or "Project") finalized the implementation of Novo Estado Project as from the energization of the transmission lines between the Xingu and Serra Pelada substations, the final necessary stage for the complete operationalization of Novo Estado. Commercial operations began in December 2021 and were concluded within the timeframe established by ANEEL (National Electric Energy Agency).

The Novo Estado Project was conceived for upgrading the offtake of energy generated by the major hydropower plants in the North of Brazil, thereby optimizing the National Interconnected System. At an investment worth approximately R$ 3.2 billion in investments, in all 3,634 power line towers were installed along 1,800 kilometers of 500 kV transmission line, traversing 24 municipalities in the states of Tocantins and Pará.

In addition, the Company announces that on February 19, the Gralha Azul Transmission System in the state of Paraná entered into full operation with the energization of the section crossing the urban and rural zones of the cities of Ponta Grossa, Imbituva and Irati. The first transmission lines of Gralha Azul were energized in 2021, anticipating by 16 months the cut - off date for this event set forth in the concession agreement.

"The complete operation of the transmission projects is a demonstration of our execution capacity and our strategy of transferring sustainable and clean energy to leading consumer markets. We are now operating two lines which besides transmitting energy, carry with them an additional stimulus for the development of important regions in Brazil", affirms Eduardo Sattamini, Chief Executive and Investor Relations Officer of ENGIE Brasil Energia.
